"Installation Completed 3 Weeks After Plebiscite," Says Banister

LAC LA BICHE—A large gathering of ratepayers was present Friday evening when a meeting was held in the Memorial Hall to discuss natural gas. Chairman for the meeting was Councillor F. W. McMillan who, after opening the meeting called on Mayor Maccagno who, he said, had without a doubt done more work on a natural gas plan for the town than all others put together.

Mr. Maccagno reviewed the progress of the gas negotiations over the past year, giving the meeting some idea of the amount of study and planning which had been carried out. He said there were times when the people became impatient and may have felt that the council should move more quickly, but he assured the meeting that the time spent was necessary in order that every precaution be taken to secure the best possible gas system for the town.

He mentioned in detail a number of rumors which had been circulated when the town first considered its own system. One of these was that the town would not be able to secure proper insurance, but it had now been made clear that a company was prepared to insure the system for a million dollars. It had also been circulated that the town could not obtain the necessary funds. A letter was read from the provincial treasurer offering to invest over one hundred thousand of government trust funds in the project. He assured the audience that the government is not opposed to such a system being owned by the town, but that a bill had been passed in the legislature making it possible for a municipality to sell bonds for such a utility. He emphasized the fact that the system would be entirely divorced from other town business as far as finances were concerned. It would not have any effect on taxes, frontage or otherwise. In supporting his explanations the mayor read from various portions of By-lay No. 326 which will come before the electors on July 25.

The chairman then introduced Hon. E. W. Hinman, provincial treasurer, who gave a clear explanation of the attitude of the provincial government toward a municipally-owned utility. He said the government would be glad to invest trust funds in the system. He congratulated the council on its fine co-operation and the leadership it was providing in paving the way for other municipally-owned systems.

The chairman then called upon Ron Banister, of Banister Construction Limited, to inform the meeting as to how quickly the distribution system could be installed and in operation providing the plebiscite set for July 25 was favorable. Mr. Banister said three weeks would be sufficient time to complete the work. He believed gas could be available to consumers from a month to six weeks after the lines were installed. He congratulated the town on the enthusiasm of its mayor and council.

Following Mr. Banister's remarks T. J. Robertson, B.Sc., and P. Eng. were given an opportunity to answer questions relating to gas in general. Many good questions were asked and answered in a way which made the meeting well worth while.

Ottawa Report

By Anthony J. Wright

"GIVE THE PEOPLE THE CARS THEY WANT"—UNION ASKS

Trade and jobs were very much in people's mind here after the July 1 holiday. Politicians may have seemed to be talking more about the Bill of Rights than anything else but they were not thinking about it very much. Like motherhood the Bill of Rights is a pretty popular thing. AT BEST it is a pious declaration put into our statutes that Canadians have various freedoms they always thought they had . . . until it happens to be your word against a policeman's about your having broken a traffic regulation (he says) or not having broken one (you say).

Anthony Wright

In those situations you either have the right to pay the fine or go to court ,thereby wasting a day, and paying more than the fine. However, despite these irksome situations, it is true that we are as free as humans ever will be and that Canada is a good country in which to live.

What was really on the minds of politicians here was how to make this country a better place to live in. It was weighing especially on the thoughts of a large group of United Automobile Workers who dropped in to see Prime Minister Diefenbaker, Labour Minister Mike Starr, Revenue's George Nowlan and others at nine a.m. on July 4.

I'll say this for the union boys—they brought with them a very sensible brief. They did not rail and rant about Canadians being done out of jobs by cheap foreign products made under slave-labor conditions. This is the line often taken by pressure groups, whether from unions or management.

This time the U.A.W. called their brief "How Canadians Can Get a Made-In-Canada Car They Want And Can Afford." Now who could quarrel with that aim?

After showing that foreign cars are on the up and up and taking still larger bites from the Canadian market, the unions pointed out that, in their view, management should fight fire with fire. It should stop fighting imports of smaller European cars like the Volkswagen and Renault with imports of other foreign cars like the Vauxhall, Simca and Consul. These latter three are made either by American firms in Britain or, in Simca's case, by a French firm having a profitable tie-up with Chrysler.

The UAW's point was that General Motors does not really care whether the profits flow into its left hand pocket or its right as long as they flow. They don't care whether they draw their profits from Vauxhalls made in Britain and competing against Corvairs made in Windsor. The UAW wants an end to this. It says that the "Compacts" being turned out in Detroit and Windsor by the Big Three are "only a halfway house to the small car." They are not wanted as much in Canada as the smaller, and cheaper, European cars.

What it all boils down to is that the unions want government either to get into the car-making business, which is foolish or to put pressure by tariffs ,etc., on to the Canadian subsidiaries of the Big Three to make smaller cars here, sell them for less than the Compacts now fetch, make more of their parts in Canada. They also want a royal commission to sift the whole mess. They will probably get one. This government just loves royal commissions. By the time such a commission hands early 1962—the auto troubles will down a report—my guess is by have got very much worse.

EULER DOUBTFUL ABOUT WHEAT SALES TO RUSSIA

Senator William Euler, who hits his 85th birthday July 10, recalls negotiating with two top Russian trade officials a year before they were humped off in one of Stalin's blood-baths. The senator worked out a trade treaty between Canada and Russia in 1936. He was then Canada's Trade Minister. He is not one to be fooled by the window-dressing of the latest trade agreement signed recently in Moscow by Gordon Churchill.

He is doubtful whether the deal just signed will result in bigger wheat sales to Moscow. In theory the Russians will buy up to $25 millions worth of goods a year from us, of which 7 million bushels of wheat would be big item. But for them to honor this agreement we must, in return, buy $12½ millions worth of goods from them. And that we won't do. Last year we bought only $2 millions worth, mostly furs.

City Deeper In Debt Bog

The City of Edmonton went $12,500,000 deeper into the sinkhole of debt last week, when the Municipal Finance Corporation okayed a loan for that amonut. MFC had to borrow the money in the States.

So far, only $8,000,000 is handy. The rest will come when the MFC can borrow it from some other source.

Interest rate is 5.75 percent. Over 20 years the interest will cost Edmonton taxpayers more than he original loan they are now getting.

The only redeeming feature of the new debt is that the city asked for $1,500,000 more, but didn't get it.

The money will be used to finance capital works approved in January by city council. It does not include up to $3,000,000 the province will provide toward the new $9,000,000 Royal Alexandra Hospital, nor the $1,000,000 provincial contribution to the city's winter works program

Last January, city council approved a capital works budget of $26,335,308 on the assumption that $12,000,000 would be forthcoming from the MFC. Thus, it will have to consider a new schedule of projects to use up the extra $500,000 the city has been permitted to borrow.

However, subsequent to council's approval of the budget, Commissioner Malcolm Tweddle asked the corporation for an additional $2 000,000 to cover grading, gravelling, paving and sewer work. This request has, in effect, been met only to the extent of $500,000.

HOW TRUE!

By Dr. K. W. Tenove, Chiropractor

While one man is saying "It can't be done," someone else is doing it. Folks are skeptical of things they do not understand, never taking the trouble to study them. Revolutionary inventions have been scouted as impractical. Every new discovery has its hosts of doubters. Without the expenditure of an hour's study, even a moment's thought, the unthinking boldly proclaim every new idea an impossibility because, per-chance, simple as it may be, it is unintelligible to them. The new is condemned, if for no other reason than its newness.

It is not apart from the usual order of things, therefore, that such a radical departure from old-time physiological dogma, as is Chiropractic, should be maligned by those who are unenlightened. They forget that these are days of change, when scientific revolutions are effected overnight.

Skeptics ask: What possible assistance can be given disordered kidneys, liver, stomach or heart by a chiropractic spinal adjustment? Pulling the trigger of a gun is remarkably easy. Without a knowledge of the latent force within the cartridge, its effects upon any living thing within the line of fire might well appear incredible. But to those who can reason from cause to effect, the consequences are clearly defined.

So it is with the Chiropractic adjustment. It immediately releases the latent force which is an inherent part of all living organisms, stirring dormant matter to life and action. And its value is the restoration of conditions wherein normal functions of the various organs may be resumed is testified to by the thousands of chronic invalids who have regained normal health through its application.

The Hon. N. Willmore Invited To Attend Opening County Beach

Plans were made for the opening of the County of Athabasca Beach at Baptiste Lake, although the date was not set, at the regular meeting of council held on June 17 and 20. An invitation was extended to the Hon. Norman Willmore, minister of lands and forests, to attend the official opening.

It was announced by Chairman Ed Loxam there would be an inquest into the death of William Lowe and the members of the council would be at liberty to attend. He also passed on an invitation to attend the Athabasca Chamber of Commerce annual meeting at the Buffalo Room at 7:30.

At five o'clock a delegation headed by Nelson Brown and composed of W. Flack, Mike Droziak, Jim Pearsons, Oliver Ness, J. E. Brown met with the council. They were desirous of council considering a contingency road (a request for which must come from the council) from the D. Lamoureux' corner to join with the contingency road at Meanook, built last year, a distance of approximately eight miles.

After listening to the presentation, the council appointed a delegation to investigate the situation and report back.

The members of the delegation were prepared and had a petition signed by others, covering sixteen quarters ,to donate a strip of land one rod wide along the route of the proposed road for right of way in the event the road was built.

The action of the committee in purchasing an elevating grader was approved. The committee also planned to trade the oldest of the Tournapulls for a scraper. This action was approved.

The committee reported on a pound dispute betwen Labaschuk and Lynk, and that settlement was made.

The contingency grant across the river, which was estimated at $30,000 was found to be $10,000.

Councillor Breckenridge was authorized to level the muskeg which was left when the road was built past 4-66-21 several years ago. Levelling will facilitate weed control.

A complaint re flooding of land was discused, but no action taken as council felt the construction of the road had no bearing on the flooding of the land.

Councillors Breckenridge and Shimonichek were delegated to investigate and assess the amount of work completed by a ratepayer under the winter brushing program.

E. Shand and G. Crawford asked for council's permission to erect cottages on lake lot 22-66-24. Grazing leases were grated to Don Ballard and J. K. Mort on the SW 13-67-22 and the NE15 and SE 22-68-24, respectively.

A sale of land was considered and tabled pending further information.

Cattle crossings were granted to Fred Maetz and Alex McDonell.

The council has a store of dynamite, and the council stressed that anyone obtaining dynamite from Councillor Breckenridge should first have a letter of authority from the councillor, specifying the amount he needed and that in no case should women or children be allowed to handle dynamite.

Application is to be made for extension of district highway 41-9-101 from the NE 7-67-21 north 4 miles, east 1 mile and north 2 miles.

Applications for erection of recreational facilities in the hamlets of Rochester, Grassland and Colinton were being considered by the provincial government, which has set up a committee to deal with the matter.

Mike Krumpic was granted permission to operate a retail fuel and oil sales for motor boats only at Skeleton Lake.

A by-law was passed granting $10 towards the cost of two students attending the United Nations short course in Banff in August.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

JESUS HELPS THE NEEDY

Once Jesus was traveling on His way to Jericho with a great crowd following Him. Suddenly a pleading voice cried out: "Jesus, thou Son of David, have mercy on me."

That cry attracted the attention of the crowd milling about the Master. Some of the people tried to stop the man and said, "Hold your peace."

The man realized Christ might walk out of his life, that he might never have another opportunity for help. He had been blind from birth, and he knew that only Jesus could help him. So, the Bible says, he cried that much louder, "Jesus, thou Son of David, have mercy on me!"

This time Jesus heard the cry. He stopped the whole procession. The sweetest music in all the world to God is a sinner's prayer or the cry of a sick person who cannot get well. Jesus heard the blind man and said, "Bring that man to me." Then He asked the man, "What wilt thou that I should do unto thee?"

The poor blind man answered, "Lord, that I might receive my sight."

Jesus said, "Go thy way, thy faith hath made thee whole." And the scales came off the man's eyes and he was healed of blindness! This act shows our Saviour in action—the Christ the Bible gives us!

There are those who say Jesus was a good man, a wonderful teacher or a fine social worker. But let me tell you what He was: Jesus was a man who felt the torments of people, who carried the afflictions of people, who was touched by the feelings of their infirmities, who was concerned about their sinful lives, who came to seek and to save that which was lost. Not only was he concerned then, but today he is still the same. This is the real Christ!

Wherever Jesus went He had great power. He came against four things: Sin, disease, demons and fear.

Christ was not against the people; he loved them. He never hated anybody. He was never scornful or intolerant of anybody. He hated sin. He hated disease. He hated fear. He hated demons.

Christ gave people abundant life. "The thief cometh not but for to steal, and to kill, and to destroy," He said. "I am come that they might have life and that they might have it more abundantly."

Abundant life is a new birth, a sound body, God giving us the material things we need without worry and anxiety. Abundant life is triumph over all our mortal foes.

When you receive Christ in your heart as your personal Saviour, He will give you the greatest power you've ever known in your life. A different kind of power . . . with peace in your heart, and with a new goal in life . . . to live a more abundant life.

WIVES VISIT PRISONERS:

They Call It "Eros In Chains"

By VIRGINIA GARCIA
Toronto Telegram News Service

MEXICO CITY — (Special) — After 23 years of permitting "conjugal visits" between convicts and their wives, Mexico is currently considering broadening the system and permitting husbands to visit female prisoners.

Mexico was the first country in the world to allow male prisoners to be visited overnight by their wives in specially designed, private rooms in Mexico City prison and most of the state prisons.

While the original legislation provided the same benefits for both male and female prisoners, the application to women has been withheld because of a number of problems, chiefly that of rearing the children born of the visits.

PILOT PROGRAM

A test program to reinstitute the benefits for women convicts has been outlined for the Federal District Prison on the outskirts of the city.

Mexican criminologists, penologists, psychiatrists and sociologists are unanimous in their endorsation of the unique conjugal visit system.

They stress its many advantages:

1. Reduced emotional tensions within the prison.

2. Reduced incidence of homosexuality.

3. Smoother rehabilation for released prisoners.

The increased tractability of the inmates due to the system they point out has reduced the tendency to attempt mass breakouts which occur in other countries but are almost unheard of in Mexico.

Despite these advantages, which Mexican experts feel are obvious, legal, moral and administrative problems are thorny and complicated and have prevented the system from spreading elsewhere in the world.

For a brief period Russia adopted a similar system in some isolated penal colonies, but is believed to have since dropped it.

Since then several Latin American countries have authorized similar systems.

In Mexico, the privilege is held out as a reward for good behaviour ard has proved an excellent incentive for prisoner co-operation authorities claim.

The law provides than any issue resulting from the visits be provided for by a certain percentage of the money earned by the prisoner-father in prison shops.

A smaller percentage is provided the mother during pregnancy and this increases with the birth and growth of the child.

The visits are granted to prisoners serving sentences of two years or longer. For shorter terms an honor parole system where the prisoner is allowed to visit his home for short periods is in effect.

Cancellation of the visits, which may be requested by either party, is always granted immediately with the provision that neither may obtain permission to resume them again for a full 10-month period.

"There is no doubt at all about the success of the program so far," said Dr. Edumundo Buentello, a leading Mexican expert in psychopenal problems.

In 23 years the system has been modified through experience and amended by legislation based on practical experience.

Currently a proposal for modifications in the system by Dr. Buentello is being studied by the government. It would not alter the major outlines but would introduce some administrative changes including the places of visits, conditions and perhaps the name from "conjugal visit" to "family visit."

Recent government figures show that approximately 30 to 40 per cent of the inmates of the country's federal prisons are allowed the privilege of the visits. Application for the privilege may be made after the convict has completed a month in prison.

It is granted only after a complete investigation of both parties by physicians, psychiatrists, sociologists and penologists assigned by the prison.

Describing the system as "Eros in chains," Jiminez de Azua, a noted penologist, said Mexico will continue in its efforts to make the prisoner's lot more bearable and so contribute to reducing resentment against society and materially aid in his rehabilitation as a useful citizen.

But Mexican Penologists All Agree On One Thing . . .

"GOING TO JAIL WON'T HELP YOU!"

"Child Influenced By Environment" Home And School Convention Told

The final Home and School meeting for this term was held at Hylo School.

The highlight of the evening was the report by Mrs. Elda Keehn on the Home and School annual convention attended by her in Lethbridge. Mrs. Keehn informed the group that all the speakers proved most interesting and they enlightened the delegates on many points in education.

In his speech R. H. Jeacock, retiring president of the Alberta Federation of Home and School Associations, commented that there are three kinds of groups in each community; small, medium and large. The first group makes things happen, the second watches and criticizes and the third and largest group of all is indifferent, does not care or know what happens in the community. "The HSA belongs to the first group," he stated. "The greatest number of people do not even know that the H and S is an educational organization in which the aim is to obtain the best for every child according to his mental, physical, social and spiritual needs. The adults create the environment and this in turn influences the child so it is the responsibility of the parents to first of all educate themselves in order that they may set good examples for their children," he said..

As Mayor Elmer Roper stated, in speaking on the problems of delinquency which occurs mostly between the ages of 15 and 19, that this cannot be solved by increasing educational budgets but by the attitude of the community, neighborhood and home. Descipline will have to be exercised and communities must offer young people good recreational facilities and leadership to counteract delinquency.

Dr. Nowatt was among other interesting speakers.

Everyone enjoyed Mrs. Keehn's report and the literature she distributed.

The busines part of the meeting was brief. It was regretted that S. Odynak, School superintendent, who was to be the guest speaker, was unable to attend. But he promised to be present at the first meeting in the new term.

Reports were heard from all the committees. Mrs. O. Meardi, president, gave a farewell speech and rolls and coffee concluded the enjoyable evening.
